

We know if we don't act now, the threat of pollution will only get worse and cause more harm to our communities and our kids' health.

I-1631 is a practical first step to ensure clean air and clean water for everyone in Washington, giving us the chance to pass on a healthier state to the next generation.

- I-1631 would put a fee ($15/ton) on the state's largest polluters like the oil industry and utilities that have not switched to clean energy
- Invests nearly $1 billion in reducing pollution and switching over to clean energy
 - 70% invested in clean energy like wind and solar, transportation alternatives, cleaner fuels, and energy efficiency
 - 25% invested in state natural resources so forests can clean our air and our drinking water and rivers are healthy
 - 5% ensuring impacts do not disproportionately harm the communities hardest hit by pollution and poverty
- Protects low income and communities of color hardest hit by pollution by targeting investments and working to lower utility bills
- Is all overseen by a public board made up of experts in science, business, health, and trusted community leaders so special interests aren't making decisions about our future

We know if we don't act now, the threat of pollution will only get worse and cause more harm to our communities and our kids' health.

I-1631 is a practical first step to ensure clean air and clean water for everyone in Washington, giving us the chance to pass on a healthier state to the next generation.

- I-1631 would put a fee ($15/ton) on the state's largest polluters like the oil industry and utilities that have not switched to clean energy
- Invests nearly $1 billion in reducing pollution and switching over to clean energy
 - 70% invested in clean energy like wind and solar, transportation alternatives, cleaner fuels, and energy efficiency
 - 25% invested in state natural resources so forests can clean our air and our drinking water and rivers are healthy
 - 5% ensuring impacts do not disproportionately harm the communities hardest hit by pollution and poverty
- Protects low income and communities of color hardest hit by pollution by targeting investments and working to lower utility bills
- Is all overseen by a public board made up of experts in science, business, health, and trusted community leaders so special interests aren't making decisions about our future

1631 is endorsed by over 100 organizations

Environmental groups: Sierra Club, Nature Conservancy, Washington Environmental Council, Climate Solutions, Carbon Washington, Audubon Washington, 350.org, Washington Conservation Voters, ReSources

Community of color organizations: Front and Centered, OneAmerica, Puget Sound Sage, Got Green, Asian Pacific Islander Coalition, NAACP Spokane, Community to Community, Latino Community Fund, ACRS

Labor unions: AFT WA, AFSCME, SEIU, UFCW 21, OPEIU Local 8, UAW, Teamsters 117

Health advocates: Washington Physicians for Social Responsibility, American Lung Association of Mountain Pacific, King County Academy of Family Physicians

WA Tribal Nations: Makah, Quinault, Samish, Tulalip Tribes, Lummi

Faith communities: Earth Ministry, Faith Climate Action, Washington Interfaith Power and Light, Unitarian Universalists Church of Spokane

Business groups: American Institute of Architects Seattle, CERES, Washington Businesses for Climate Action, EEFC, American Sustainable Business Council

1631 is endorsed by over 100 organizations

Environmental groups: Sierra Club, Nature Conservancy, Washington Environmental Council, Climate Solutions, Carbon Washington, Audubon Washington, 350.org, Washington Conservation Voters, ReSources

Community of color organizations: Front and Centered, OneAmerica, Puget Sound Sage, Got Green, Asian Pacific Islander Coalition, NAACP Spokane, Community to Community, Latino Community Fund, ACRS

Labor unions: AFT WA, AFSCME, SEIU, UFCW 21, OPEIU Local 8, UAW, Teamsters 117

Health advocates: Washington Physicians for Social Responsibility, American Lung Association of Mountain Pacific, King County Academy of Family Physicians

WA Tribal Nations: Makah, Quinault, Samish, Tulalip Tribes, Lummi

Faith communities: Earth Ministry, Faith Climate Action, Washington Interfaith Power and Light, Unitarian Universalists Church of Spokane

Business groups: American Institute of Architects Seattle, CERES, Washington Businesses for Climate Action, EEFC, American Sustainable Business Council